Summary

An international culinary experience to appeal to every palate. B.A.S.H. Burger and Sushi brings together friends and families with their beautiful, modern décor and cuisine. The original building was restored to integrate more textures. Brick, wood, metal, and glass all blend together to bring this Sushi American fusion to life. People come for the food and stay for the fun atmosphere of B.A.S.H. Burger and Sushi, located in the heart of Starved Rock country.

Challenges

The owners wanted to upgrade their patio space and replace big windows with functionally flexible doors so the space could be open to take full advantage of beautiful summer days but also have the often capacity-filled restaurant still feel “open and airy” during the cold winter months.

How the Product Helped

The full-view doors created a way to blend one additional element to this fun space: the outdoors. The new, modern, bronze rails and clear glass create an exterior building facade that now matches the theme of the restaurant. Fun. Modern. Intriguing.

Additional Insights

- Bash is a unique hip and trendy spot in the heart of traditional Ottawa, Illinois. The addition of the garage doors that open to the patio area allow for additional seating without making diners feel separated from the experience.
